Re: Disposal of Surplus Property: Law Books

Your assistance is needed in disposing of some surplus law books, which I must move right along in order to avoid letting the set become obsolete. Could we place on the consent calendar for the June 15, 1988 City Council meeting, an item declaring surplus the set of books known as "California Forms of Pleading and Practice" presently used by the City Attorney's office?

Vera has already prepared the attached classified ad to be placed in the San Joaquin County Bar Journal, which I believe will be printed and distributed toward the end of June. The problem we have is that if we wait for the general sale of surplus property in a month or two, the set of books will become even more out of date because we are not continuing our subscription to the update service, and its value would fall still lower.

Your assistance is appreciated.
